

“Sing, O barren, you who have not borne! Break forth into singing, and cry aloud, you who did not travail with child; for more are the children of the desolate than the children of the married wife”, says the LORD.” Isaiah 54:1

Singing in the face of trials and disappointments? It sounds ridiculous to the natural way of thinking, doesn't it? The principles of faith are never more fully realized than when they are experienced in the midst of trouble. Faith is manifest and magnified through thanksgiving and is especially borne along in victorious song. “But at midnight while chained in prison Paul and Silas were praying and singing hymns to God... suddenly there was a great earthquake... and immediately all the doors of the prison were opened and everyone's chains fell off.” (Acts 16:25 – 26).

“Expand the place of your tent... do not spare; lengthen your cords...” (Isaiah 54:2 – 3). Our continued faith acts initiated by the first faith act of singing praise and worship, moves us into the flow of victorious Christian living. You may be barren, but enlarge your Tent of Praise and prepare for the promised increase!

Remember, faith always demands an act and praise is the highest form of faith's declarations!

Alleluia!
