

“The way of the slothful man is overgrown with thorns, but the way of the righteous is like a highway.” Proverbs 15:19

Laziness is so deceptive. It imagines that it is avoiding hard work, but all the while it is sinking deeper and deeper into trouble with even more work piling up – awaiting attention!

Laziness and procrastination, if not twins, are surely brothers. One helps the other with words of comfort as they put off what must be done until another or “better time.” They both lead to poverty, grief, and shame. Laziness and procrastination both produce worry and anxiety because of the pressures exerted by the undone demands of life.

As laziness and procrastination are twins so are patient endurance and faith. These two, however, accomplish much, for patient endurance refuses to give up until the task is accomplished and faith, by its very nature – must act!

The roads of life are difficult enough. To traverse them when they are overgrown with thorns make the task even more daunting. To maintain the road of life little by little with hard diligent effort – makes life far more enjoyable!

Make a realistic action or “do list.” Ask yourself, “What will I do today that will help me fulfill my life goals and life purposes?” Prioritize what you need to put on the list for each day of this week. Now, set yourself to accomplish each day’s task(s). Roll over the items that didn’t get accomplished today into tomorrow. Setting deadlines may help. Rewards come after a job well done!

My “Do List” for this week includes...

- 1.
- 2.
- 3.
- 4.
- 5.
- 6.
- 7.

“Before the THRONE” and “Before the THRONE – The Devotional” are registered trademarks of and published by Spencers Unleashed, Inc. All rights reserved, contents may be quoted or reprinted, provided excerpts are in context.

© 2005 and © 2006 by Mark D. Spencer and Spencers Unleashed, Inc. For additional information see us at www.spencersunleashed.com or at www.innercourt.com or at www.feargod.com