

“Blessed be the LORD, who daily loads us with benefits, even the God of our salvation. Selah. He Who is our God is the God of salvation; and unto God, the Lord belongs escapes from death.” Psalm 68:19-20

It is often said, “Sunshine or rain... bills due or bills paid... Somehow, somewhere God is blessing us even when we are unaware of His blessing.” But then again, these sorts of thoughts tend to take us away from mountain moving faith and into the rationalization side of things, don’t they? Not wanting to deny the truth or the promise of God’s Word we excuse away our lack of seen blessing by those more imagined or somewhat more general blessings at best. You know – “the sun is shining”, “someone else has it worse off than me.” (These aren’t bad things, especially since they are the truth, but if used as an excuse for our lack of faith, then they will rob us of the necessary confidence to move the mountains before us!)

Without discounting the blessings of the sunshine or the much needed rainfall – can we be made aware that the Lord really does intend for us to experience in a very practical manner His benefits each and every day?! And for sake of our line of thought, let’s also remove those dramatic and attention getting blessings that are so needed and desired. Let’s be honest with one another. It is not every day that a best friend or immediate family member give their lives to Christ? It is not every day do you need a miracle of healing. What blessings then may I expect if I look past the universal blessings to something more personal? Or realizing that the spectacular, while still hoped for and believed for, often remains in God’s time. What then are the blessings that the Lord desires for me – today?

What can any man say to that question? “But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love Him. But God hath revealed them unto us by His Spirit: ...Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the Spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God.”(1 Corinthians 2:9-12)

Well then, since only the Spirit knows, let’s ask Him... “Lord Jesus, this day open my heart and ears and eyes to experience the fresh load of Your blessings that are scheduled for delivery to me today!”
