Psalm 119:130, 133

“The entrance of Your Word gives light, it gives understanding to the simple... Order my steps in Your Word...” Psalm 119:130, 133

There is a form of pollution that is extremely hard to protect the environment from but is at once easily spotted and yet it can be easily overlooked. Modern society has polluted the night skies with light! Around large cities it is becoming increasingly more and more difficult at night to see basic constellations because of such light pollution. In many places the Milky Way remains only in pictures or in fading memories. If you will travel away from the bright lights of the city and behold the wonder of the naked sky it is still an awesome experience!

As the “shouting” of man’s artificial light drowns out the subtle lights of Creation’s night sky, so modern “truths” of every kind of “ism” attempt to mask the Truth of God’s Word. Yet, when given entrance into the human heart darkness of every kind is dispelled and a standard is raised by which all other truths so called may be judged accurately!

How important it is then to approach the Word of God in a sense of wonder and reverence. It is from the Scripture that I can expect God to speak, to direct, to encourage, to correct, to bless! Whether you are opening the Word of God to read, or to follow a lecture, open it with the expectancy that the Holy Spirit will order your path. Expect that He will bring you to those verses and passages that will speak to your felt need in the now!

“Holy Spirit, shine the light of the Word upon my heart. Illuminate it to my mind. Shine the Word into any still darkened areas of my life, exposing those things that displease You, and through Your Word, empower me to change more and more into the image of Jesus, my Lord! Amen!”
