Exodus 12:43

“This is the ordinance of the Passover; no foreigner shall eat it...” Exodus 12:43

The Covenant Table of our Lord Jesus, while open to all, is at the same time reserved for those who would draw near to Him in close friendship and personal fellowship.

When the Lord’s Supper is taken ritualistically it may satisfy an emotional or religious need within man to justify himself by his good deeds, but those who participate out of a living devotion to Jesus Christ will find far more than a momentary religious satisfaction. The Covenant Table is where the believer may “take hold” of the promises of God. It is a place where the theories and the promises of God may be practically possessed.

No, the Covenant Table is only for those in need of a Saviour. Its seating is reserved for those who will “draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith.” (Hebrew 10:22). It is here, where we lay hold of the full and completed work of Calvary’s Cross!

Saint of God, whatever your need; this table has already been set with your full provision. Forgiveness, peace of mind and heart, health or healing, restored relationships, every provision for life and ministry, yes; it is awaiting you at this table – the Covenant Table of Jesus Christ!

“He sets a table before me in the midst of my enemies.”
