Genesis 32:28

---

“...for as a prince you have power with God and with man, and you have prevailed.”
Genesis 32:28

The Apostle Paul writing by the inspiration of the Holy Spirit identifies the Christian as royal in status. “Much more they who receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness shall reign in life by One, Jesus Christ.” (Romans 5:17)

Having granted us the status of royalty and also providing for us a High Priest, He now expects us to enter His Sovereign Presence with a confident boldness and expectation – to the end that we may have a prevailing influence upon the lives of hurting and lost people. (Hebrews 4:16)

You see, as we experience our own personal wrestlings with the LORD and then we discover for ourselves His bounty of grace and goodness, it is not something we can then keep to ourselves, is it? There is a certain expectation, and yes, even a standing command for us to then use our new found place of royal influence with God to affect the lives of others.

“For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of rejoicing? Are you, even you, in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at His coming? For you are our glory and joy.” (1 Thessalonians 2:19-20)

“Father, in Jesus Name, today I present to you these people, friends, and family that need your grace in their lives...”
