

“And Abram heeded the voice of Sarai...” Genesis 16:2

In today’s cultural climate, Abram would be considered an enlightened man. And even within certain well-respected and prominent Christian circles he would have been seen as an example of, if not a champion of women’s rights!

It is a common courtesy to listen to the opinions of our family, friends, and colleagues. Mature and healthy dialogue encourages various ideas and thoughts. But to have heard the Voice of the Master on any given course for your life and to then to heed or yield to another’s voice is to most grievous error! Today’s Middle East conflict can be directly traced to Abram heeding his wife’s voice over the Voice of the Lord!

Oral Roberts said it this way... “Once you’ve heard from God, no longer confer with men. Then, at all costs, get the job done.”

“My sheep hear My voice.” This then is the Voice that must be heeded. While the many voices of the world clamor for our attention this One Still Small Voice” and our response to it will determine our destiny!

“Thank You LORD for giving me ears to hear Your Voice, a heart to receive Your word and a certain determination to obey You irregardless of the cost involved!”
